

Dads' Big Book of Tips for

MOMS' NIGHT OUT

Do count the number of kids you have
at the start of the evening.

Don't have fewer kids than you started with at the end of the evening.

Do teach your kids how they can help you around the yard.

Don't teach them how to use the chainsaw for pruning.

Don't call your wife ...
no matter how tough it gets.

Do call your wife if you end up in the Emergency Room.

Do let them pick their favorite restaurant for supper with you.

Don't let them pick the Pizza Playland without backup ... lots of backup!

Do invite another Dad and his kids to share the evening with your family.

Don't allow that Dad to sneak away and leave you with all the kids!

Do let them have a cookie after supper.

Don't let them eat
chocolate cake for supper.

Do wrestle with your kids
and roll on the ground.

Don't try this immediately after meals.

Do let them color
a pretty picture for Mommy.

Don't let them color
it on the living room wall.

Do ignore your emails.

Don't ignore the noises
coming from the baby monitor.

Do let your kids stay up later than they normally get to.

Don't head off to bed before your kids do.

Do read your kids a calming bedtime story.

Don't let them watch Frankenstein before bedtime.

Do say a thankful bedtime prayer
with your kids.

Don't hide in the closet praying for your wife to come home early!

A COMEDY ABOUT ~~CHAOS~~ Life

MOMS' NIGHT OUT

IN THEATERS MAY 9

MomsNightOutMovie.com

THIS FILM IS NOT YET RATED.
FOR FUTURE INFO, GO TO FILMRATINGS.COM

© 2014 AFFIRM Films/Sony Pictures Entertainment
& Provident Films, LLC. All Rights Reserved.

AFFIRM FILMS

