NEW ALBUM COMING SOON

(SEPTEMBER 27, 2019 – LOS ANGELES, CA) – Buzzing genre-defying musician, Tyla Yaweh, releases two new singles entitled “I Think I Luv Her” featuring YG and “Understand Me” today via London Entertainment/Epic Records.

Get “Understand Me” HERE.

In between garnering close to 90 million streams and performing for sold-out crowds across the globe, he flips the script and rewrites the rulebook. On “I Think I Luv Her,” quirky guitar tip-toes between a xylophone-style beat hyped by simmering swagger before a wild West Coast rap masterclass from Compton's finest YG. Produced by Hitmaka [Big Sean, Drake], the track flips a sample of the Kelis classic "Bossy" featuring Too $hort. Watch the official lyric video HERE and stay tuned for the music video soon.

Elsewhere, dreamy synths resound through skittering hi-hat on "Understand Me," produced by BeatGod XL (Migos, Future) and Simon Kempner. Yaweh switches up his flow across vulnerable verses and a confessional, yet catchy chorus.

The two tracks herald the arrival of more music to come soon and the first taste of new music since the release of his debut project, Heart Full Of Rage, which was released earlier this year to acclaim and recently crossed over 88 million on-demand global streams. Get Heart Full Of Rage HERE. Earlier this month, he shared the emotionally charged music video for "Who Shot Johnny?" which Complex declared "a standout track."

After concluding two arena tours across Europe and Australia alongside Post Malone (in addition to Jaden Smith in Australia) and appearing in high-profile festival lineups from Bonnaroo to Lollapalooza, and most recently Life Is Beautiful, Tyla Yaweh returned to the road as support on The Runaway Tour earlier this month, rounding a bill headlined by Post and including Swae Lee. The tour sees the trio conquering stages across North America through the Fall, and wraps with a two-night run at the Forum in Los Angeles on November 20 and 21.
