Backed by a sinewy guitar lead and a sultry beat, the track properly introduces his anthemic amalgam of R&B, soul, and pop. Dipping between genres, bouncy verses give way to a hypnotic hook, “This that typa luv, typa luv, I can never get enough of you,” before a powerhouse vocal run. Meanwhile, the music video sees D. Muñoz and his lady entangled in a series of intimate vignettes from cruising in a vintage car to sharing a vista of Los Angeles from a chic home in the Hollywood Hills.

The song paves the way for the release of his 2020 debut EP, Moments, with production by Jorgen Odegard [P!nk, Imagine Dragons].

Fall in this “typa luv” with him now...
