"YOUNG LOVE & SATURDAY NIGHTS" SINGLE REVIEW QUOTES:

"...a vivid love letter to summertime weekends, old trucks, dive bar bands, and crushes." -- Associated Press

"Since his 2006 debut, Young's canon of traditional-leaning country songs has been consistent, and he extends it here, embedding the riff into the melody of this ode to trucks and weekend romances, which also showcases Young's baritone twang." -- Billboard

"....the perfect summer anthem to crank up the volume with the windows down." -- iHeart Country

“The melody quotes ‘Rebel Rebel’ by David Bowie, but this uptempo romp is country all the way. It’s a joyous celebration of old trucks, small towns, radio tunes and necking in the parking lot. Roll down the windows and crank it up on a carefree weekend.” -- Music Row

“... summer anthem that shows off his smooth voice alongside lyrics written by hit Nashville songwriters, Ashley Gorley, Jesse Frasure, and Josh Thompson.” -- American Songwriter

“Young showcases his hard-hitting vocals and Tennessee twang as he depicts the carefree feeling of ‘falling way too fast’ on a summer Saturday night.” -- Country Now

“Young knows what his fans want, and this multi-platinum cowboy has blessed us with the perfect summer anthem.” -- All Country News

“...a musical piece that pays homage to Bowie’s legacy while elevating it with a fresh and contemporary touch.” -- Circle All Access

“...the adaption faithfully re-creates the original’s garage-band drum sound and distorted guitar riff, matching up well with the new version’s working-class lyrics.” -- Billboard

“Chris Young leans heavy on a timeless rock riff throughout ‘Young Love & Saturday Nights,’ the latest look at his next studio album.” -- Taste Of Country

“A heartland tribute with a sense of forever-young passion, it’s a tune that captures the feeling of endless possibility.” – Nashville Lifestyles

“...a hypnotizing mix that listeners are bound to enjoy at first listen.” – Music Mayhem

“The Tennessee native bears full transparency through his mid-tempo, candid lyrics, and love-driven vocals...” Country Now

“One of my favorite male country voices returns with a pile driver that begs to be cranked up to ‘10.’ The quest for love has seldom rocked so splendidly.” – Music Row

“RIGHT NOW” REVIEW QUOTES:

“With a pounding pulse, sweeping strings, and a desire-filled delivery... ‘Right Now’ exudes strong-and-steady confidence even when exploring the ‘in-between relationship phase’ that is often relatable.” – Nashville Lifestyles

“Magnificent. He’s carrying a torch so hot that the whole track smolders. While percussion throbs and guitars cry, one of our greatest current country singers yearns for her in a lonely well of desire. Play it again.” – Music Row

“Young is back in his wheelhouse with ‘Right Now.’ He's no stranger to love songs, and this new one is similar to his No. 1 hit "I'm Coming Over" with its ‘love conquers all’ ideology.” – Taste of Country

“Chris Young sets love on fire in his burning new song...The country star puts his pride on the back burner as he delivers a raw portrayal of a couple who isn’t ready to move on from each other just yet... “Right Now” is a captivating mid-tempo tune that highlights Young’s deep vocals as he puts himself in the shoes of these wavering lovers.” – Country Now

“Country music mainstay, Chris Young is giving fans what they want, more music...Young does a convincing job at expressing the sentiment of the catchy tune.” – Country Swag

“...a song filled with desire and steady confidence, it captures the essence of an evolving relationship...” – Fame Magazine

“Softening the pace, the pureness of the whispered hush in his baritone familiarity enhances each word as it strikes heartstring emotions as he brings us into the moment of confliction that yearns for what used to be versus moving on from what wasn’t meant to be.” – Today’s Country Magazine

“Climactic.....soaring number...” – American Songwriter

“...Young turns in another distinguished vocal delivery on this sultry, soulful track, which finds him torn between pride and pining, embellished by moody guitar and driving rhythm. Ultimately, he dares to be the first to put his ego and hurt aside for the chance to rekindle a romance whose embers are still glowing. Young wrote this standout with Chris DeStefano and Josh Hoge, with production by Young and DeStefano.” – Billboard

“DOUBLE DOWN” REVIEW QUOTES:

“It’s a barroom stomper with twang guitar and thumping percussion in praise of getting it on by drinking doubles and painting the town neon-red.” – Music Row

“...a rowdy play on words that celebrates the weekend.” – Taste of Country

“Chris Young Is 'raisin' up trouble' on unplanned track debut.” – iHeart Country

“The song, co-written by Monty Criswell, Derek George, and Tyler Reeve, taps into a swampy grit that immediately gets you boot heel stomping with its insatiable rhythm as Young brings the richness of his voice into what is nothing short of a celebratory toast to a night out on the town.” – Today’s Country Magazine

“Electric late-night anthem...The country star captures the perfect soundtrack to throwing back a few under the neon lights of a honkytonk along with some sultry undertones that insinuate where the night might lead.” – Country Now

“WHAT SHE SEES IN ME” REVIEW QUOTES:

“Best New Country Song You Need To Hear - Chris Young is suffering his own romantic anxieties, wondering what it is exactly that the object of his affections sees in him as he recounts the story of how he made the move from BFF to LOML in the heartfelt ‘What She Sees In Me,’ ...the song is destined to become a first-dance wedding song for years to come.” – Holler

“A run of tender, acoustic guitar plucks and a soothing piano melody sets the tone....The perfect wedding dance song.” – Country Now

“...the most romantic one from the record thus far...the ballad is told from the perspective of a humble man. He explains how lucky he is to have seen this woman go from being the girl next door to his forever person.” – Country Swag

“Chris Young tells sweet love story...romantic ballad.” – iHeart Country

“Disc of the Day....His country baritone grabs you from the first note. The ultra-romantic ballad swoons with emotion. Love this. Love him.” – Music Row
