*“...with the EP Memo already out and a string of singles lined up that feature that amazing voice, there's a lot more coming from the Australian singer and songwriter.”- Teen Vogue

*“Brisbane's Grace is 18 years old, but she's in possession of the voice and swagger of someone much older and more veteran than she.” -The Fader

(New York, NY -- June 17, 2016) Australian vocal powerhouse GRACE SEWELL's debut album, FMA is now available for pre-order, and is set for release on July 1st on Regime Music Societe/ RCA Records. Fans who pre-order FMA will instantly receive current singles “You Don’t Own Me,” “Hell of a Girl,” and new single “Hope You Understand.” Click HERE to listen to “Hope You Understand” available now at all digital providers.

Grace recently released the video for her single, "Hell of a Girl." Click HERE to watch it now. This follows the release of her chart-topping debut hit single, "You Don't Own Me" Ft. G-Eazy," which is now certified Gold and currently Top 3 Shazam in over 20 markets, Top 10 Shazam in over 85 markets and Top 25 at Pop radio on over 150 stations in the U.S, and over 50 million streams on YouTube.

"You Don't Own Me" is a throwback cover of Lesley Gore's 1963 anthem. Produced by the godfather Quincy Jones, who also produced the original, and Parker Ighile (Nicki Minaj, Rihanna, Jessie J, Ariana Grande), the track has not only has become a hit in the US, but also reaching the #1 spot on the official UK Radio chart, as well as topping all major U.K sales charts across the board. The single also hit #1 and is certified double-platinum in Grace's native country of Australia.

Grace made her U.S. television debut performance on the TODAY Show. Earlier this year, she performed live on The Late Show with Stephen Colbert and she was also nominated for her first ARIA award for "Song of the Year."
