About Betty Who

Once described by New York Magazine as a mix of “early Madonna...Katy Perry and Robyn, with spunk and confidence”, and by Elle as “your next pop obsession”, Australian pop-singer, Betty Who, is a force to be reckoned with. She has built a passionate and loyal fan base through her early EP’s, undeniable charisma and ecstatic live show. Who independently released her first EP entitled The Movement EP, in which the lead single and fan favorite, “Somebody Loves You” debuted at #4 of Spotify’s most viral list. Her follow-up EP, Slow Dancing, was released via RCA Records and debuted at #1 on the iTunes Pop Chart. The success of Who’s early EP’s eventually led to the release of her debut LP entitled Take Me When You Go (RCA Records), along with performances on The View, The Today Show, and Late Night With Seth Meyers, as well as tours with both Katy Perry and Kiesza. To gear up for her second full-length album, Betty Who released her cover of Donna Lewis’ “I Love You Always Forever”, which received critical praise from the likes of SPIN, Entertainment Weekly, Vogue, and more. Since then, Betty has released the first single off of her upcoming second album entitled “Human Touch”, along with an acoustic version of the song featuring Australian singer-songwriter, Jarryd James (Click HERE). With the releases of “I Love You Always Forever” and “Human Touch”, along with the upcoming album, Betty Who continues to prove she has a lot more magic up her sleeve.
