“The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon” will host “Miley Week” Oct. 2-6, with Cyrus scheduled to perform each night. This unprecedented weeklong celebration on “The Tonight Show” will kick off with a sit-down chat with Fallon on Monday, Oct. 2 and feature one-of-a-kind performances and sketches. Fans can also expect special guests and surprises all week.

In honor of this release, Spotify is throwing Cyrus and her fans a Welcome Home party in Nashville on Friday, September 29. "It's OUR Partayyyy & we'll do what WE want toooooo! You're all invited to my @spotify album release in Nashville, TN," Cyrus beckons. Cyrus' biggest fans on Spotify have been invited to attend a very special event to celebrate Younger Now, and have plenty of great surprises in store.

Younger Now is by no means a reinvention, but more a continuation. As the title-track expresses, "No one stays the same." Cyrus has always been true to herself on her creative journey and has shared her life and experiences with fans through her artistry. Her prior albums were a direct reflection of her unapologetic self, and uncompromising vision of her music. And with Younger Now, Cyrus took the full creative reigns with an intention to share a piece of herself, unlike before. She wrote every lyric, co-wrote the music, and co-produced the album.

Miley Cyrus is a singer-songwriter, actress, artist and philanthropist. With five #1 albums including her 2013 GRAMMY-nominated album Bangerz, which went Platinum in the U.S., five sold out world tours and almost 30 million tracks sold, Cyrus is one of the most influential artists in pop culture. Most recently she showcased her artistic vision on her independent album Miley Cyrus and Her Dead Petz. She is one of the most searched artists in Internet history with over 160 million digital platform subscribers and over 3 billion video views.

In addition to her success in music and television, Cyrus founded the nonprofit organization The Happy Hippie Foundation to rally young people to fight injustice. Since launching, the foundation has provided direct support to thousands of homeless and LGBTQ youth across the country. In 2015, amfAR honored Cyrus' fight against HIV/AIDS with its Award of Inspiration and the Los Angeles LGBT Center honored her work on behalf of LGBT youth with its Vanguard Award. Most recently, Cyrus has been honored with Variety's 2016 Power of Women award for all her philanthropic efforts.
