Xavier Omär

About Xavier Omär

R&B singer/songwriter, Xavier Omär released his debut studio album Bonfire in 2014. After changing his name in early 2016, Xavier released his EP with producer Sango titled Hours Spent Loving You followed by The Everlasting Wave that features his standout single “Blind Man” which garnered over 50M US streams. Pink Lightning, his latest release, came out this past November. Xavier Omär grew up in a military family, moving across the country to places such as San Antonio and as far as Japan, but he claims San Antonio as his home. His mother and siblings sang and played drums and piano, and his father was a writer, producer and the minister of music at church. He wrote and produced his first song at 12 years of age, recording it in his basement on a 4-track tape recorder. In his writing, he draws inspiration from artists of all genres, including Pharrell, James Blake, and The 1975. Earlier this year he toured with NAO on her North American Tour and recently wrapped up his headlining European Tour. Xavier has over 90M US streams across all platforms and has over 1M monthly listeners on Spotify. He's looking to the future with his latest release "Thief" (with Sango) and his newfound home at RCA Records.

About Sango

Sango is a Seattle based producer who is most known for his remixes of Aaliyah, Drake, Little Dragon, Nas, The Weeknd, his debut album 'North,' and his Baile Funk EP series "Da Rocinha." At the young age of 12, Sango started producing music alongside his older brother and his friends. His work mainly focuses on hip-hop, and soul influenced beats that over the years have been able to come together as his own distinctive innovative sound. Apart from producing, Sango is a graphic designer. He has designed all of his releases up to date, which has shown that he is more than just a producer, but an artist in his own right. He has been featured on numerous publications for his self-disclosing interviews and tracks, such as Fader, Drake's OVO blog, XLR8R, Noisey, Fader, Complex, and more. Over the last few years while releasing his Da Rocinha series, Sango has toured 50 + cities worldwide and played some of the worlds biggest festivals. His high energy live set is constantly in demand. While touring his Da Rocinha projects and live set around the world, Sango has been producing for some of the industry's hottest acts. Sango has produced for Tinashe, Bryson Tiller, Mick Jenkins, GoldLink, Wale & more.

About Parisalexa

The Seattle native, Parisalexa, is a singer, songwriter and producer who continues to forge her own genre of R&B-tinged pop music. Although she just turned 21 years old, Parisalexa has been making undeniable strides for her music career with hit singles like, "Water Me." Most recently, she appeared on NBC's latest reality show/music competition series, Songland, where the winners get their song recorded by guest artists including John Legend, the Jonas Brothers and will.i.am.
