"My entire life I've essentially been told to express my femininity, sexuality and female form in a way that pleases other people and I'm honestly just really tired of it. I will not perpetuate the objectification women face by constantly taking on opinions from other people that frankly, we didn't ask for. I get dressed, do my hair, talk the way I wanna talk, think the way I do and feel the way I feel for me, no one else." – SAYGRACE

(New York – July 17, 2020) Today, SAYGRACE releases “Girl,” a brand new single with an accompanying video. Watch it/listen here: <https://smarturl.it/SG.Girl>.

“Girl” showcases Saygrace’s badass-yet-playful songwriting skills and her stunning, soulful voice. The track continues in the same mindset of her critically-acclaimed debut EP The Defining Moments of SAYGRACE: Girlhood, Fuckboys & Situationships released earlier this year to rave reviews from NPR, Fader, Idolator, Billboard, Consequence of Sound, and more.

The video for “Girl” was shot in Los Angeles by Becky Hearn who also directed Saygrace’s video for “Boys Ain’t Shit” Featuring Tate McRae and Audrey Mika.

On her debut EP, Brisbane, Australia born singer/songwriter SAYGRACE made the conscious decision to put the version of herself she wants to be into the world. She created songs that tells girls they don't have to have it all figured out or succumb to pressure to be something they're not. That it's okay to just be yourself. And that it's okay if you don't know who that is yet.
