(February 19th, 2021 – New York, New York) – Today, vocal quintet Citizen Queen release their second original song “No Ego,” an infectious, attitude-driven, empowered bop via RCA Records. Working with some of the hottest writers and producers in the industry, “No Ego” is written by pop maverick Justin Tranter (Selena Gomez, Justin Bieber) and Grammy-Award winning female hit-making duo NOVA WAV (Beyoncé, Ariana Grande). The track is produced by NOVA WAV.

Showcasing the girls’ range of talent, the accompanying music video is directed by Ethan Lader (Mariah Carey, Mary J. Blige) and choreographed by Jamaica (Justin Bieber, Usher, Ciara). Watch HERE.

In December, the group debuted original music with power anthem “Call Me Queen” which Nylon included in their Soundcheck column and stated “Modern representation plus Danity Kane-levels of pop ear-worminess? This is the girl group we deserve!” while Refinery29 said “Citizen Queen kicks down the doors with their powerful official debut, and the perfectly placed harmonies, bass, and vocal percussion on the original song all but promise a top spot for the talented newbies.”

Alongside their executive producer team of Justin Tranter and NOVA WAV, Citizen Queen has spent the better part of last year developing an arsenal of slickly-produced, superbly sung R&B-laced pop bangers and ballads. More to come from Citizen Queen soon.

About Citizen Queen:

Comprised of five supremely talented female vocalists, Kaedi Dalley (20), Hannah Mrozak (22), Cora Isabel, (19) Nina Nelson (22) and Kaylah Sharve' (22), Citizen Queen is diverse in vocal style and background, but united in their mission to carry the torch as the next generation of girl group excellence.

The group have racked up hundreds of thousands of streams, millions of views on YouTube – including the expertly-arranged and flawlessly-executed “Evolution of Girl Groups” (20m views) – toured in arenas throughout North America and received praise from the likes of everyone from Ariana Grande to Meghan Trainor - and they haven’t even released original music...until now.
