

MASN RELEASES NEW TRACK “SELF SABOTAGE”

(Los Angeles, CA – August 27th, 2021) – Artist on the rise MASN releases his new track “Self Sabotage” via RCA Records. Listen HERE. “Self Sabotage” follows MASN’s previously released tracks “Don’t Talk” which Ones To Watch called “...a perfect summer song...” and “Sitting In Fire.” All three tracks are featured on his upcoming EP which will be released later this year.

MASN says, “A little bit won’t hurt you” is what everyone says before engaging in something fucking stupid. “Self Sabotage” is about participating in short-term gratification that you know will eventually cause long-term harm. My goal with this song was to deliver on the hurt that engaging in these behaviors will cause. The production is lying to you by being up beat and happy because it masks the fact that self sabotage is a deceiving path leading in pain.”

Last year MASN released his debut EP How To Kill A Rockstar as well as “Mountains,” a collaboration with label mates Lost Kings. MASN’s debut EP received critical praise – the track “Hate Me!” was featured on Billboard’s “10 Cool New Pop Songs To Get You Through The Week” and Ones To Watch “#NowWatching” playlist and “Fire” which PAPER called “compelling.” The EP also included previously released tracks “Psycho!,” “Psycho!” feat. Trippie Redd and “Vallum.”
