(New York—September 24, 2021) Today, Winnetka Bowling League releases the title track “pulp” from their forthcoming EP coming later this fall via RCA Records. Tickets for their November/December headlining tour are also on sale today.

“pulp” was written and produced by front man Matthew Koma who explains the story behind the song: “pulp’ was a real life recap of a trip I took when I was 18 to Scranton PA. I got on this Martz Trailways bus and sat next to this girl who was a few years older than me and dressed really cool. We talked the whole trip and she played me Belle & Sebastian for the first time. I fell in love with her and she told me she liked girls. “

“pulp” follows their previous single “barcelona” with Sasha Sloan, a wistful song featuring the band’s signature dreamy indie-pop sound, also featured on their forthcoming EP due out this fall.

Koma says about getting back on the road:

“Like most bands during the pandemic, we did our best to connect via live streams, etc. but it simply doesn't compare to playing in a room, with real people, in real time. We're beyond excited to get back to botching our own songs live and stressing over ticket counts. There's just some anxieties the internet can't duplicate.”

About Matthew Koma and Winnetka Bowling League

Lead singer and front man Matthew Koma is an award-winning performer, songwriter and producer who has worked with a diverse range of artists including Bruce Springsteen, Keith Urban, Demi Lovato, Britney Spears, Tiësto, Ryan Tedder, Pentatonix, RAC, The Knocks, Shania Twain, Kelly Clarkson and many more. New Jersey raised, Koma formed Winnetka Bowling League in 2018 in Los Angeles along with his brother Kris Mazzarisi on drums and released their self-titled EP. Their second EP Cloudy with a Chance of Sun was released in 2019 and followed by Congratulations in 2020, all brimming with finely tuned guitar pop, catchy lyrics and perfectly calibrated songwriting. Rounding out the band is Sam Beresford on keys. The Los Angeles Times declared their debut “On The 5” as an “undeniably anthemic pop,” V Magazine described “Grammy-winning singer-songwriter Matthew Koma...[as] raw and honest, possessing a dry sense of humor that is reflected in both his songs and his mannerisms...[Winnetka Bowling League is] the perfect pairing of deep lyrical content and alternative rock melodies,” and Idolator raved “Winnetka Bowling League continues to roll out hands-in-the-air pop/rock anthems at an alarming rate.”
